

Armada Of 97 Ships Will Be Blasted With Atom Bombs

By WILLIAM A. KINNEY

Washington, Jan. 24 (AP)—The navy raised the curtain today on its plans for testing the atomic bomb against a great armada of fighting ships—an experiment expected to revolutionize sea warfare.

A guinea pig fleet of 97 vessels, ranging from carriers and battle-ships, submarines and transports to an assortment of smaller craft such as landing ships, will be the atomic target in the vast operation to start in May.

The laboratory selected is the anchorage of Bikini atoll, one of the northernmost of the Marshall Islands which were wrested from Japan by amphibious assault two years ago.

Vice Adm. W. H. P. Blandy, head of the navy's division on special weapons, ticked off for the Senate atomic energy committee these details of the epochal experiment, known by the codeword "operation crossroad."

1. In the target fleet will be 50 operating ships—two aircraft carriers, four battleships, two cruisers, 16 destroyers, eight submarines and 15 transports from U. S. fleets, plus a German heavy cruiser, a Japanese battleship and light cruiser—and 47 of other craft such as landing ships.

2. The undertaking "is not a combined or international operation, but rather a scientific experiment by the United States government alone." The question of permitting foreign observers has not yet been decided.

3. The unmanned target ships "will be anchored and placed in a manner calculated to give effects varying from probable destruction to negligible damage" in each type.

4. The first test, early in May, calls for detonating an atomic bomb at an altitude of several hundred feet above the target vessels. A second test, tentatively set for July 1, will be an atomic burst at the water's surface in the target area.

5. A deep water test in the open sea is planned later, but technical difficulties preclude its coming off this year.

6. "Task force one"—A fleet of 50 additional U. S. navy ships with a complement of 20,000 men—will set up the experiment and make arrangements for recording its results by all modern scientific techniques.

32,720 Ton Jap Ship Blandy, who has been named commander for the entire test by the joint chiefs of staff, revealed that some of the best-known units of the U. S. fleet had been marked for target vessels. They include:

The Saratoga, oldest U. S. carrier afloat which carried the flight from Guadalcanal to Jap home waters; the cruiser Salt Lake City, "the one ship fleet" of Solomons fame; the battleships Pennsylvania and Nevada, two Pearl Harbor victims that came back from near destruction to slug out the rest of the war; the Arkansas, oldest battlewagon in the navy, and the New York, veteran of action from North Africa to Okinawa. The "cruiser carrier" Independence also will be a target.

Japanese participants will be the 32,720-ton battleship Nagato, flagship of Admiral Yamamoto at the war's outbreak, and the 6,000-ton light cruiser Sakawa. The Nagato was damaged in the closing phases (Please Turn to Page 5)

NO ACTION ON JAIL PETITION

No action was taken Wednesday at the regular weekly meeting of the Adams county commissioners on a petition signed by 82 residents of the northern section of Gettysburg protesting the erection of a new county jail on the county farm property a short distance north of the borough limits on the Biglerville road.

The petition was presented to the commissioners by Clarence C. Smith, chief clerk, along with an analysis of the petition and its names, showing the number of property owners, taxpayers, voters, etc., who signed. Action on the petition was deferred until a subsequent meeting of the commissioners, Mr. Smith said.

The petitioners urge that not only do the commissioners locate the jail at some other site, but that the county home be in time moved to another place, to allow for future development of this locality as a residential section.

Present plans call for opening of bids on the new $100,000 jail sometime in March.

COUNTY BANKS ORGANIZE POOL TO MAKE LOANS

The Adams County Bankers' association, at its postponed December meeting held Wednesday evening at the Battlefield hotel, approved the formation of a $1,000,000 Adams county credit pool. The mechanical details of the pool will be worked out by a committee headed by Lloyd W. Kuhn, cashier of the Bendersville National bank.

Each member bank will name, or has already done so, a representative and an alternate to the new credit pool's council. The $1,000,000 represents amounts pledged by the 13 banks. Nine of them were represented at Wednesday evening's meeting. Purpose of the credit pool is to make it possible for the group to make loans which would be too large for any single small bank to handle, under its capital limitations.

Principal speaker at Wednesday's meeting was O. Howard Wolfe, vice president of the Philadelphia National bank and secretary of the Philadelphia Bank Credit pool agency. Purpose of the bank credit pools, Mr. Wolfe said, is to "get the banks back in the banking business and get the government out of the banking business."

Banks Can Make Loans

"The National Credit association was formed in 1932 to supply credit in pool operations," Mr. Wolfe said, in tracing the history of the plan. "This was followed by the Reconstruction Finance corporation. In addition to the RFC we now have a multiplicity of government lending agencies. Credit pools are being and have been formed to combat this government lending. The banks are fully able to make loans."

Today, Mr. Wolfe said, there are 48 large bank credit pools in the United States with resources of $750,000,000.

"Out of all these pools, less than $1,000,000 in loans has been made," Mr. Wolfe continued. "We hope we don't make any loans. We hope that the banks of Adams county, for instance, will take care of all the credit needs of this county, so that they need not go to any big city bank. We are not trying to take any business away from you."

Mr. Wolfe said that banks, for the first time, have gotten together and taken loans that they could not handle separately.

No "Sick" Loans

"I believe this is the most significant fact about the movement in Adams county," the speaker declared. "And whatever helps you, helps us. The first thing for you to do is to enter into an agreement among yourselves. Credit pools are organized to implement loans to small and medium size businesses, through the originating bank. Don't let anybody think, however, that (Please Turn to Page 5)

Two Discharged At Bainbridge, Md.

Two Adams county men were recently discharged from the naval service at the Bainbridge, Md., separation center. They are:

Paul C. Miller, 31 West Water street, who served 20 months and who was last assigned to the LSM 453, and Dennis Albert Leonard, MOMM 2/C, Littlestown, who also served 20 months and was on the USS Wesson.

Short Charges U. S. Cities Given Radar Before Hawaii

Washington, Jan. 24 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Walter C. Short charged today that the War Department delayed setting up radar in Hawaii in 1941 while it completed installations in New York city, Seattle and San Francisco.

Short's charge was bolstered when he read to the Pearl Harbor Investigating committee a telegram he said he had received yesterday from Waterloo, Iowa, signed by Maj. George D. Leask of the Army Signal Corps.

Leask said that when he was transferred to San Francisco on December 10, 1941, he found three radar towers "lying on an open plain" there. It was not until several weeks later that he received instructions from Washington to ship them to Honolulu immediately, the telegram said.

Short told the committee the army had hired experts from the Radio Corporation of America to help install radar equipment on the mainland.

Hawaii By-Passed

"When it came to Hawaii," he said, "it was just a question of the officers digging out what information they could and putting it together. It looked like the War Department was more interested in developing radar on the mainland than in Hawaii."

The witness said none of the permanent radar stations on Oahu was in operation at the time of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor. A

Local Hospital Without Butter

Patients and the staff at the Annie M. Warner hospital ate butterless meals Wednesday for the first time in the history of the institution.

During previous butter shortages in the war months the local hospital always managed to secure sufficient butter to serve patients. The supply was low at times but never completely exhausted.

However, the hospital found itself without an ounce of butter on Wednesday. The usual source of supply failed the hospital and butterless meals were served for the first time.

The hospital has sufficient butter to take care of its needs today but the future outlook is as gloomy as can be. Hospital authorities are hopeful of securing a new supply soon.

There are 56 patients in the hospital, including eight babies.

On Tuesday the hospital housed 69 patients but 19 were discharged during the day.

SCOUTERS GIVE BENSON SILVER BEAVER AWARD

O. H. Benson, Gettysburg R. D., prominent in national and local youth activities for the past three decades, was presented with the Silver Beaver award Wednesday evening at the annual meeting of the York-Adams area of the Boy Scouts, held in York.

The award, highest honor that can be given to a scout leader in the two-county council, was given also to Joseph M. Lehmayer of York. Mr. Benson, former head and founder of the 4-H movement and a pioneer in the Lone Scout movement as well as in other Boy Scout activities in this section, was not present to receive the award. He is at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., where he is spending the winter.

Horace G. Ports, York, was re-elected president of the council, with the other officers named as: vice presidents, Rush C. Little, Ralph A. Masten, Sr., and Bernard Sevel; national council representatives, Mahlon N. Haines and Benjamin T. Root; council commissioner, Benjamin T. Root; council treasurer, Harry O. Sakemiller; council secretary, W. Jack Watson, and honorary member of the executive board, Francis Parquhar.

Counicians On Board

Three members of the Black Walnut district, Dean W. E. Tilberg, Mr. Benson and Dr. Frederick Tilberg were renamed to the executive board.

During 1945 Scout membership in the area dropped from 2,513 to 2,412, while Cub membership climbed from 260 to 415, the annual report, submitted by Scout Executive W. Jack Watson, showed. Seven new troops and four new cub packs were organized during the year, while six troops and two packs were dropped, making a total at the end of the year of 107 troops and 12 packs.

Expenditures for the year were $19,025.35, with receipts at $19,029.57, leaving a balance of $4.22.

MEMBERSHIP OF LOCAL VFW POST NOW TOTALS 306

At a scheduled meeting of Post 15, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Gettysburg, Wednesday night, it was announced that the post now has 306 members. Commander William Eckenrode presided at the meeting at which business of the post was discussed at length.

The meeting was followed by a special session of the home association of the post. Members of this body were elected at a special meeting January 2. The association includes veterans of the Spanish-American, World War I and World War II. Members of that group are: Charles V. Abell, Kenneth Mickley, George C. Mitchell, Glenn Raffensperger, Charles Small, Samuel Kessel, Robert E. Tipton, William E. Eckenrode, Clyde D. Berger, Harold Y. Cromwell and Joseph E. Slonaker.

Trustees elected at the special meeting on January 2 were: Samuel Kessel, Harold Y. Cromwell and Joseph Slonaker.

Add New Members

Members admitted to membership of the post at the January 2 meeting include H. R. Slaybaugh, Merle L. Hankey, Edwin C. Wentz, Ralph G. Taylor, Stewart H. Moyer, Daniel P. Dentler, Lee S. Hadlock, Bernard W. Little, Alfred L. Gilbert, Stanley E. Sprankle, David H. Hershey, Lloyd D. Lerew, Richard C. Myers, James W. Mauston, Earl L. McClain and Merritt Thomas.

Men admitted to post membership at the January 9 meeting include: Charles N. Cramer, William E. Knox, Samuel P. Snyder, James H. Wiser, Jr., Herbert George Raab, Clarence Van Brable, Albert R. Goodermuth, Milton J. Fanus, Elmer W. Nelson, Francis B. Thomas, Stanley K. Aldinger, Edward A. Hung, Jr., Grover W. Ridler and Simon A. Sanders.

At Wednesday's meeting the following men were enrolled: John R. Thomas, Robert R. Ford, Harold T. McElroy, James N. Stoner, Laurence J. Cullison, Melvin P. Oyler, John Joseph Knox, Lewis S. Bomberger, Charles F. Dillman, Jr., Donald E. Lady and Lester L. Carter.

The Rev. Mr. Mortensen, Elizabethville, a charter member of the Gettysburg VFW post, acted as chaplain. His son, John, who accompanied him to Gettysburg yesterday, has recently returned from army duty in France and Germany.

SCHOOLMEN OF 6 COUNTIES TO ASSEMBLE HERE

Plans for the June conference of the Schoolmen's associations of Adams, Franklin and York counties, one of a series of conferences being held by the Secondary Principals' Association of Pennsylvania in co-operation with the national organization, were made at a meeting of the executive committees of the three counties Wednesday evening in the SCA building on the college campus. Invitations will be extended to schoolmen of three Maryland counties, Carroll, Frederick and Baltimore, to attend the conference.

The conference will be a three-day meeting, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, June 17, 18 and 19. York county will have charge of the Monday session, with Huber D. Strine, president of the York County Schoolmen's association, presiding. C. P. Keefe, vice president of the Adams county association will preside at the Tuesday sessions, in charge of the Adams county association, and Paul E. Shull, vice president of the Franklin county association will preside at the Wednesday sessions.

Discussion Subjects Main subjects for discussion were announced today as follows: Monday morning, "Recent veteran information on educational, on-the-job and apprentice training"; Monday afternoon, "How to provide college facilities for present high school students"; Tuesday morning, "What constitutes a desirable policy in determining teacher loads in class and extra class assignments"; Tuesday afternoon, "What are the responsibilities of teachers and principals for the improvement of the total school program"; Wednesday morning, "What community activities by teachers are most desirable to make the school and the community most cooperative in the education of youth."

There will be a joint dinner meeting in Gettysburg April 24 to make further plans for the conference.

Truck Crashes Into Emmitsburg Building

Approximately $75 damage was done to the front of the post office building at Emmitsburg this morning at 8:45 o'clock when a truck of the Alwine Brick company, New Oxford, skidded on ice in the Emmitsburg square and crashed head-on into the building.

According to Postmaster Lewis H. Stoner, witnesses asserted the driver was operating his truck very slowly around the square enroute south when the un-cindered ice was encountered which caused the driver to lose control.

The driver, whose name could not be learned, was unhurt. The truck was damaged only slightly, the front bumper being imbedded in the building while bricks sliding forward damaged the rear of the cab.

COLLEGES MAY FORCE CHANGES IN HI SCHOOLS

How the high schools might work their programs into the new courses of study being proposed by various colleges in the United States was discussed Wednesday night at a meeting of the Adams County Schoolmen's Association held at the SCA building.

The new methods of college instruction by which the colleges hope to produce students better rounded in all knowledge rather than specialists educated in only one branch — was described by one schoolman as a "challenge to the school's secondary schools." But other schoolmen brought forth the fact that under state laws the local schools can do little to change their courses to meet the new demands.

Dr. W. C. Waltemyer described the curriculum at Columbia university by which all students study civilization and the humanities during their first two years, getting a well rounded education before branching off into specialized departmental work their last two years.

"Balanced Courses"

Dr. Thomas L. Cline continued a discussion of the Harvard Report and Dr. Robert T. Fortenbaugh described the courses at Princeton. While there were differences in all proposed plans as to the years in which certain studies will be taken, the entire plan in general is to return to the balanced course of instruction by which a student gets a general education rather than merely a specialized one.

In most of the universities proficiency tests are being given in mathematics and foreign languages, allowing a student who can read the required foreign tongues, or who has a sufficiently high knowledge of mathematics to continue with other work rather than continue the language and mathematics courses.

Cites Present System

The new courses will also demand a higher type of student than those currently entering the colleges, the speakers pointed out. Much of the instruction will come from sources rather than texts and a high degree of knowledge will be a prerequisite for all students.

DR. A. R. WENTZ OUTLINES NEW MISSION PLAN

The first of a series of lectures sponsored by the Gettysburg Council of Church Women was held in Christ Lutheran church, Wednesday night. Dr. Dwight P. Putnam conducted the devotional period, with Mrs. A. Z. Rogers at the piano. Mrs. Dunning Idle, Sr., introduced Dr. Abdel Ross Wentz "not only as the president of the seminary but also as president of the Board of Foreign Missions of the United Lutheran Church and a member of the Provisional Committee, World Council of Churches, which meets in Geneva next month."

At the beginning of his talk Dr. Wentz said that he had always been interested in missions and increased it by marrying into a mission family. Mrs. Wentz was the niece of Dr. Kuhlman, for many years treasurer of the Board of Foreign Missions of the General Synod of the United Lutheran Church. She lived with his family in the house now occupied by the Wentzes.

Dr. Wentz told the group they were honored with the presence of a man whom he considered the greatest authority on missions in the Lutheran church in this country "or perhaps any church in the country." Dr. John Aberly, former president emeritus of the seminary, whose book "Outline of Missions," is just off the press. Dr. Aberly served 33 years in India in what is considered one of the largest Protestant missions in the world.

Background Of Missions

Dr. Wentz, announced that he would give a background of International Missions for further studies which will be conducted by the group and he used in his discourse a copy of the authorized revision of the American Standard Version of the New Testament which will not be available to the public until February. He is a member of the committee of scholars who for several years have been working on the revision.

Preliminary to his discussion he used the two parables about the "mustard" and "yeast" and likened the vitality of these two agencies to the "vitality of the gospel that cannot be exhausted under any circumstances." One hundred forty-five years ago, he said, Yale had only one student who acknowledged Christ and other universities were in similar situation. "Since that time the church has moved forward with increasing steadiness. Christianity has grown from the original eleven until today when six or seven hundred million people, one-third of the population of the globe, lives under Christian influence. Fifty-two per cent of the people in the U. S. belong to the church and if they were only 51 per cent wholly Christian there would be no public problems," he said.

Cites New Frontier

"AG" MEETING ON JANUARY 29

The 30th annual meeting of the Adams County Agricultural Extension association will be held in the Gettysburg high school auditorium Tuesday, January 29. The sessions will open at 10 a. m. and adjourn by 3:30 p. m., with dinner available at the high school cafeteria.

"This is a county-wide meeting of farm folks and their friends interested in the progress of the farm, the home and the community," M. T. Hartman, county agent said today. "Activities in home economics, agriculture, 4-H club work and senior extension work will be reported."

A board of directors consisting of 12 men and three women will be nominated and elected. "Clothing the Family," by Miss Alice Brinton, clothing extension specialist, and "The 1946 Agricultural Outlook," by Dr. Kenneth Hood, extension economist from State College, are included on the program.

First Quarantine In Four Months Placed

The home of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Troger, Fayetteville R. 1, was placed under scarlet fever quarantine Wednesday afternoon by William I. Shields, state sanitary officer for Adams county. A nine-year-old daughter, Joanna, a pupil at Buchanan school in Chambersburg, is ill.

Mr. Shields said this is the first contagious disease quarantine he has placed in Adams county since last September 20.

either proposal as the waltz of 750,000 steelworkers stretched paralyzing tentacles toward other industries.

Already the 29-state steel strike had forced 15,000 coal miners into idleness. Fabricating plants were curtailing hours and working forces. Milk deliveries were jeopardized in New York and on the west coast by container shortages.

Fairless, speaking for the American Iron and Steel Institute which represents virtually the entire industry, termed "ridiculous" the repeated charges by Murray of a big-business "conspiracy" to break up labor unions.

"You don't destroy unions by offering them the highest wage increase in history," Fairless said.

He described management's offer of a 15-cent boost as "our absolute limit." It was made he said, "after I was informed from Washington by a high government official that the government was willing to sanction some price increase over the promised $4 a ton if the labor dispute could be settled." The earlier management offer of 12½ cents had been based on a $4 steel price boost.

Clothing Show Monday, 4 P. M.

A clothing show will be held at the Majestic theatre Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock to aid the local Victory Clothing Collection, it was announced today by Sydney J. Poppay, manager. "Whispering Skull," a western, starring Tex Ritter and Dave O'Brien, and two cartoons are on the clothing show program.

Admission to the show for children and adults will be one or more pieces of clothing. Articles needed for men, women and children in war-torn countries include dresses, sweaters, underwear, overcoats, suits, shawls, socks, stockings, shoes, slippers, blankets, sheets, pillows and pillow cases. The clothing must be clean and in good repair.

HOME - KILLED MEAT BOLSTERS LOCAL SUPPLIES

The meat situation in Gettysburg presented a variegated picture today, with some retailers affected little, if any, by the strike in meat packing plants, and others fearful that their supplies will reach the vanishing point unless the strike is soon settled.

A prolonged holdup of shipments from the strike-affected packing houses will put some retailers very definitely in "bad shape," they admit. The strike has already produced a scramble here for locally-killed meat. Some markets get all their meat this way. Others get part of their supply, and the rest have to depend on packing house shipments.

The bright side of the picture locally is in home-killed beef and in meat received from packers whose plants are not yet affected by the strike, principally the smaller houses.

Contrasting Reports

"Our supply of meat is still fairly good," said one store. "Beef is still scarce, as is veal and lamb. We have a good supply of smoked meats."

In contrast was this report from another store:

"Meat? Sure, we have lots of it. We're short, and have been, on cured meat and hams, but we have plenty of beef and lamb. We knew this was coming, so we got in an extra supply."

However, this store admitted that "if the strike lasts long enough, we're going to be in bad shape. We (Please turn to Page 2)

9 DEFENDANTS' CASES BEFORE GRAND JURY

Nine defendants faced the January county Grand Jury today with a total of 12 charges being considered by the jury against the nine men and women.

Among the defendants were: Harry Wetzel, Fairfield R. 2, serious charge; Kenneth Smith, Glyndon, Md., larceny; Edward T. Weaver, Blue Ridge Summit, drunk and disorderly; Roy McFerren, Seven Stars, pandering; Joseph M. Condon, Gettysburg R. 3, larceny, of a motor vehicle and burglary; Clifford G. Chapman, Orrtanna R. D., two charges of assault and battery and one of obstructing an officer in the performance of his duties; Oliver Kuykendall, Jr., Gettysburg R. 5, assault and battery; Clyde L. Monn, Jr., Gettysburg R. 1, serious charge and Charles Kuykendall, Gettysburg R. 5, obstructing an officer in the performance of his duty.

Smith, McFerren and Weaver had previously pleaded guilty to the charges but withdrew them prior to the opening of court.

Generalissimo of Spain
disavows Nazi-Fascist sympathies

(This is the first of two or more columns on Generalissimo Francisco Franco by Dewitt Mackenzie, to whom the chief of the Spanish state has given one of his rare interviews.)

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP World Traveler

Madrid, Jan. 24 — Generalissimo Francisco Franco, chief of the Spanish state, has granted me an interview which has taken one of the most unusual turns I've encountered in a long experience with heads of governments and diplomats.

Highlights of his statements are these:

He is anxious for good relations with the United States. He never subscribed to the policies or to the political views of Hitler and Mussolini and he condemns their persecutions. Spain is developing along her own lines, uninfluenced by either Germany or Italy and he (Franco) is heading for absolute democratic rule by the people.

Monarchy Up To People

As for the hotly debated question of a return of the Spanish monarchy, he says: "It will be approached when this is suitable to the interests of the nation. When this time comes, it will have to be the Spaniards themselves who pronounce themselves in its favor."

What happened about our meeting was this: The Generalissimo rarely gives interviews, and in granting my request for one asked that I submit my questions in advance. This I did, and when I arrived at his residence—the fine old royal palace at El Pardo near Madrid—I had little hope that I should get more than formal replies to my written queries.

However, I decided I should try for a more open and intimate discussion of Spain's problems.

I was encouraged in this decision by the most cordial greeting of the generalissimo when I was ushered into his private room.

Accordingly, when we had disposed of the formal queries and answers, I said to him: "If it is permissible I should like to ask another question. It's a very blunt one, and my sole purpose in putting it is to provide an opportunity for an answer which may help relations between our two countries."

Denies Nazis' Ally

El Caudillo gave me a questioning glance but nodded acquiescence and I hung my question on the line:

"The people of the United States have fought a great war against Nazism and Fascism. Thousands of our boys have died for this cause. Rightly or wrongly the American public feels that Spain was in effect an ally of Germany and Italy, and it finds it hard to forgive that. Did you subscribe to or support Nazi and Fascist policies?"

The generalissimo shook his head. "No," he declared categorically. "I did not. Spain was not influenced by Germany and Italy, but has been developing along its own lines. We condemned all the persecutions which were carried out by those countries. There was no racial trouble in Spain. The Jews weren't persecuted here, nor was any other religion. There is religious freedom for all in Spain."

"Do you subscribe to the political views of Hitler and Mussolini?" I persisted.

He replied that he did not, and then said in amplification:

Says Cortes Makes Laws

"Spain went through a bad civil war, and after such a conflict the country must proceed carefully. It can't jump to another regime haphazardly."

"But I would call attention to the fact that the Cortes has been functioning for three years. The government doesn't make the laws. All the laws which the government recommends go to the Cortes for consideration and possible passage. The Cortes must discuss the measures for at least two months, and frequently its consideration runs much longer. If I, as chief of state, have a measure which I want to see put into effect, I have to take it to the Cortes for approval."

"Does this mean that you are headed for absolute democracy; that is, rule by the people?"

"Yes," answered El Caudillo. "But we must proceed slowly, step by step, until the people are properly prepared."

The generalissimo didn't amplify his reference to the people being "properly prepared," but I have no doubt he had in mind the fact that Spain, being rather set apart from the rest of Europe, has moved slowly through the generations in making major changes.

Birthday Nets

Paralysis Fund

$58 Cash Gift

The treasury of the local Infantile Paralysis committee, sponsoring the party to be held in the Hotel Gettysburg next Wednesday evening, is $58.20 richer today because Nick Meligakes, proprietor of the Plaza restaurant had a birthday yesterday.

To observe his natal anniversary Mr. Meligakes was host at a turkey dinner in his restaurant last evening for his employees. He refused to accept gifts but announced that he would match any amount of money they would donate to the paralysis fund. The employees produced $29.10. This morning Mr. Meligakes gave Treasurer Fred G. Pfeiffer a check in the amount of $58.20 to enrich the committee's treasury.

Mr. Meligakes also announced at the birthday party that he had purchased a group insurance policy, covering accident and health, for his employees. The policy covers the entire bracket of group insurance.

Army Releases

Four Countians

Four Adams countians have received their discharges from the army.

Those discharged at Indiantown Gap were Capt. Kermit H. Dear-dorff, Cashtown; Pfc. Richard D. Fisel, Gettysburg R. 2, and Cpl. Lewis R. Breighner, 523 Main street, McSherrystown.

Pfc. Walter F. Riley, 135 Franklin street, was recently discharged at Camp Atterbury, Ind.

A. O. Raymond M. Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy M. Baker, Emmitsburg, was discharged this week at Ft. Meade, Md. Baker served as a glider pilot in England, France and Germany. He was awarded the Victory medal, ETO ribbon, Purple Heart, Pearl Harbor ribbon, Purple Heart, Distinguished Flying Cross, American Defense ribbon, five battle stars and one bronze arrowhead.

SAY EX-CONVICT HAD GIRL'S BODY IN CAR 10 DAYS

Toledo, O., Jan. 24 (P)—A written statement related today how the body of 20-year-old Jean Fatur was carried in Irvin C. Herge's automobile for 10 days before it was dumped into the Maumee river.

Detective M. J. Kane, of Beaver county, Pa., said that Herge, described by police records as a 43-year-old ex-convict, would be charged with murder.

Herge was to be returned to New Castle, Pa., today. Miss Fatur, a former five-and-ten store clerk, lived in Ellwood City, Pa.

Herge broke down after 10 hours' questioning yesterday, said Kane, and signed a statement relating how Miss Fatur, an expectant mother, died in Ellwood City, last October 17.

Her body, nude and battered, was found October 28 in the Maumee river near Napoleon, Ohio. Dr. Thomas Ramsey, Toledo pathologist, said she had been strangled.

Kane and Corporal C. C. Snipas of the Pennsylvania state police reported Herge gave this account: He and Miss Fatur were driving to a physician's office in Ellwood City when she went into convulsions. He slapped her in an attempt to bring her to normal. Unsuccessful, he drove home and left the girl in the automobile, parked in the garage.

Body Exhumed

Returning later, he found her dead and tried futilely to resuscitate her. Then he wrapped the body in a blanket, stuffed it into the automobile trunk and went to New Castle, where the car was parked on a street for three days.

He motored to Malinta, O., and the night of October 27 dropped the body into the Maumee river. Herge gave no explanation of why authorities were not notified immediately of the girl's death. Miss Fatur was buried, unidentified, and then this week the body was exhumed and identification made through a dental chart.

Gettysburg Hardware

Opens New Quarters

The Gettysburg Hardware store today opened in its new quarters at 43 Baltimore street.

J. C. Shank, the proprietor, started work January 1, 1933, as a clerk for Harry Sanders' store, located where Minter's now is. April 15, 1934 he went with the Alleman Hardware company located in the Legion building. Later the store sold out to the Gettysburg Department store and in 1939 Mr. Shank purchased the hardware department and started business in the Legion building as the Gettysburg Hardware store.

J. Frank Dougherty, clerk at the local hardware store for the last 11 years, also started work with Harry Sanders, starting with him in 1888. The second clerk, Richard Kane, has been with Mr. Shank for two years.

Cpl. Robert Bixler

Returns To Germany

Cpl. Robert M. Bixler, son of Deputy Sheriff and Mrs. B. E. Bixler, White Hall, has re-enlisted in the United States army and will return to his duties in Germany. "Corporal Bixler was in the army for three years, 21 months of which was spent in the ETO with an MP outfit. His latest post in Germany was guarding German prisoners. He re-enlisted for 18 months recently and is now at home on furlough. He will report April 4 to Fort George G. Meade to return to Germany."

Countians Appear

As Farm Speakers

M. E. Knouse, of Arendtsville, was included on the program of the State Farm Show at Harrisburg Tuesday with a talk on "The Problems of the Fruit Grower."

Today Harold M. Steiner, entomologist at the Pennsylvania State college research laboratory at Arendtsville, spoke on the subject "Fruit Insect Research." Dr. Fred Lewis, plant pathologist at the laboratory, talked on "The Evaluation of the New Pungicides" on today's program.

Strikers' Alimony

Orders Suspended

Pittsburgh, Jan. 24 (P)—Striking steelworkers—at least those under court orders to pay alimony—had their financial burdens eased today. Judges L. Kenneth Harkins and Harry M. Montgomery of the Allegheny county court suspended several alimony orders yesterday—for the duration of the strike. They said they would similarly approve other cases where husbands are unable to make payments.

The rulings, however, were designed to aid the women who should receive the alimony rather than the men who pay it. The judges pointed out that state relief regulations forbid assistance to persons who are recipients under financial support issued by the court. Suspension of the order makes them eligible.

And, the jurists added, when the strike ends, alimony begins.

Birth Announcements

Mr. and Mrs. Parker Davis, York Springs R. 2, announce the birth of a daughter at the Hanover hospital Tuesday.

A daughter was born at the Hanover hospital Tuesday to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Walker, New Oxford R. 1.

Upper Communities

There will be no catechetical instruction at Florh's Lutheran church Saturday due to the funeral of Elias N. Hoffman.

Martin Walter, Emory Raffensperger and son, Junior, Biglerville R. D., attended the state farm show in Harrisburg Wednesday.

The Rev. George H. Berkheimer and William L. Oyler, Arendtsville, transacted business in Baltimore Wednesday.

Special recognition was given to new members and to the returned service boys at the annual congregational social held recently at Trinity Lutheran church, Arendtsville. The program included group singing led by Luther M. Lady, devotional period conducted by J. B. Bushey, selections by a girls' chorus under the direction of Mrs. George H. Berkheimer and selections by a men's quartet, members of which included Edwin A. Rice, Amos D. Sheely, Reynolds Criswell and George Boyer, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Rice. The Rev. George H. Berkheimer, pastor of the church, gave an address of welcome to the honored guests.

Mr. and Mrs. William M. Lott, Gardners R. D., and Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Lott, Aspers R. D., attended the sessions of the State Farm show in Harrisburg Tuesday.

Miss Betty Roddy has returned to the Indiana State Teachers' college to resume her studies after spending several days at her home in Biglerville.

The Rev. and Mrs. Paul Lantz and family and Mr. and Mrs. Rollin Bontrager spent Tuesday in Lancaster and Ephrata. At the latter place they visited the Rev. and Mrs. A. A. Landis.

Mr. and Mrs. James Smallwood, Jr., and son, of Martinsburg, W. Va., have concluded a visit with Mr. Smallwood's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Smallwood, of Biglerville.

Mrs. Harry Snyder, Mrs. Robert Peters and Mrs. Jacob Routsong, of Bendersville, entertained the members of the King's Daughters' class of Bethlehem Lutheran Sunday school Wednesday evening at Mrs. Snyder's home.

Mrs. W. E. Wolf entertained the members of the Carnation Guild of Arendtsville this afternoon at her home in Gettysburg.

Mrs. Carrie Beamer was hostess to the members of the Ladies' Bible class of Bethlehem Lutheran Sunday school; Bendersville, Wednesday evening at her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lower, of Guernsey, accompanied their son, Terry, home from Johns Hopkins hospital, Baltimore, Wednesday. Terry, who is ten years old, was rushed to the hospital about two weeks ago with a streptococcal sinus infection. He underwent two operations but is now convalescing in a satisfactory manner.

Miss Sara E. Starnier has returned to Washington, D. C., after spending a month with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton S. Starnier.

E. A. Meyer, formerly of Biglerville, now of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., was a speaker on the program for the Annual Farm Show in Harrisburg Tuesday.

ENDS SLAVERY FOR JAP GIRLS

Tokyo, Jan. 24 (P)—General MacArthur today ended a centuries old custom under which Japanese families sold their daughters into the slavery of prostitution.

MacArthur ordered the Japanese government to obey that section of the Potsdam declaration which guarantees "respect for the fundamental human rights." Under it Japan must annul all laws authorizing licensed prostitution and nullify all contracts committing any woman to prostitution.

Col. Crawford Sams, chief of Allied headquarters' public health and welfare service, said the Japanese girls were sold to proprietors of openly maintained houses for loans of 900 to 1,000 yen ($33 to $67) to the parents—frequently against the girls' wishes.

MacArthur also acted to curtail inflation in economically bewildered Japan with an order which froze the government's huge debt to the bank of Japan.

UNEMPLOYED GET $301

Unemployment compensation paid in Adams county for the week ending January 18 amounted to $301 it has been announced by Ramsey S. Black, state treasurer. Sixty-three countians received $1,249 under the Service Men's Readjustment act for the same period.

UNDERGOES OPERATION

LeRoy H. Winebrenner, borough engineer, underwent an operation Monday at the Mayo clinic, Rochester, Minn. He is reported getting along satisfactorily.

NO FRATERNIZING

Harrisburg, Jan. 24 (P)—Pickets at two strike-bound Harrisburg steel plants must keep moving and policemen on duty nearby are forbidden to fraternize with them, Chief of Police Oscar Blough said today.

MARRIAGE LICENSE

A marriage license was issued at the court house today to Donald Patrick Haavers, Fairfield R. 2, and Miss Mary Kathryn Hobbs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hobbs, Fairfield R. 2.

Stanley C. Settle

Granted Discharge

Capt. Stanley C. Settle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford J. Settle, Biglerville R. 2, was recently released from active duty at Ft. Meade, Md., after serving 57 months in the Ordnance department of the army.

Captain Settle volunteered on May 16, 1941, and was stationed at the Aberdeen Proving Grounds, Md., and Camp Peary until September, 1944, at which time he was sent to the south Pacific. He spent 14 months in New Guinea and Leyte as base ordnance supply officer and depot commander of ordnance general supply depots.

Prior to enlisting Settle taught for two years at the Franklin township consolidated school, near Cash-town. He recently accepted a position as director of recreation and activities at Arlington, Va., and will assume his duties February 1.

HOME - KILLED

can supply our customers for at least two weeks, however," it said.

Some Shippers Unaffected

Another store received shipments this week, and expects that these shipments will continue. They came from houses not affected—yet—by the strike. Operators of the store are keeping their fingers crossed. They said there was no shortage thus far, except that beef is scarce. There is more bacon and ham available than for some time past.

"We received part of one shipment this week," said another store. "We don't expect any more meat this week. We have no beef, but we still have pork, sausage and franks."

More cheering news came from two other places which say they fear no shortages, at least of beef.

A Lot of "Ifs"

"We kill our own," said one. "We have plenty and there won't be any meat shortage here."

Another declared: "We have lots of beef, but no pork. We kill our own beef, so there is plenty of beef and veal."

Representatives of the larger packing houses are taking no orders for meat, a dealer here said. Whether Gettysburgians will come to meatless days depends on three "ifs"—

If the government steps in and takes over the struck plants, and shipments from these plants are resumed, if employees of the smaller packing companies stay "on the job," and if the supply of locally-killed meat holds out, then Gettysburg families will have meat on the table. Take away any one of these "ifs," and the situation will be serious.

Truman Says Strife

Is Contest For Power

Washington, Jan. 24 (P)—President Truman said today much current industrial strife was a contest for power between management and labor—both of which, he said, have too much power.

The public interest, he added, demands settlement of the steel strike on the basis of his 18½ cents wage increase proposal.

Mr. Truman said, however, that he did not intend to seize the steel industry at this time although he did not rule out that future possibility.

It was necessary for the government, Mr. Truman said, to assert the power of the people in preventing strikes against the public interest.

The President disclosed that consideration is being given to federal operation of a government-built steel plant in Utah.

RELIGIOUS FILMS

The Fairfield Mennonite church offers the second in the series of sound films based on the Life of Christ on Sunday evening, January 27, at 7:30 o'clock. These films, produced by James K. Friedrich, are soundly Biblical, well acted, and artfully photographed. The public is invited. There is no admission charge. An offering will be received.

London, Jan. 24 (P)—Secretary of State Berners left London for Washington today by plane.

UNO ASSEMBLY OKAYS ATOMIC COMMISSION

London, Jan. 24 (P)—The United Nations General Assembly voted unanimously today for the creation of a special atomic energy commission, urged by U. S. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes as necessary to save the world from an atomic armaments race.

The action came after little more than an hour of discussion during which both Byrnes and chief Soviet delegate, Andrei Vishinsky, urged prompt action.

The vote was 47 to 0, with four nations abstaining.

To Meet on Iran Question

Almost simultaneously the world security council announced that it would meet tomorrow to consider complaints involving Iran, Greece and Indonesia.

The complaints, providing the basis for the first major tests of the UNO's machinery to settle disputes, will be considered at 3 p. m. (10 a. m. Eastern Standard Time).

Byrnes, who came to the UNO meeting primarily to work on creation of the atomic commission, planned to leave within a matter of hours—probably today and certainly tomorrow, American officials said.

The commission would have no power to compel the United States or any other country to disclose any of its atomic energy production secrets or disclose how the atomic bomb is made, according to interpretations given by Byrnes. Its responsibility will be to work out ways of keeping atomic energy from being used destructively.

It will be composed of representatives of the 11 nations on the security council and Canada, and will be responsible to the council for its work and policies.

Byrnes opened the general assembly debate on the proposal.

The United States entered an armaments race during the war "not to destroy but to save civilization," Byrnes said. He added that "if the race continues uncontrolled the civilization we hoped to save may be destroyed."

Andrei Vishinsky, chief Russian delegate who arrived Tuesday from Moscow, made his first appearance before the assembly in support of the atomic commission plan.

He called it a "sound and realistic approach to the problem" and the "first important act of the joint efforts of the United Nations to secure peace and security in the world."

Duckworth Barker, UNO public relations officer, in announcing that the security council would take up the Iranian, Greek and Indonesian issues tomorrow, said the council would not act at that time on the question of selecting a nominee for the key post of UNO secretary-general, an issue on which the five major powers apparently were deadlocked.

HANOVER HIGH HERE FOR BIG TILT FRIDAY

In anticipation of the largest crowd of the season to date, extra bleachers will be erected at the ends of the Gettysburg high school basketball court for the highly-anticipated league game with Hanover high Friday evening.

Doors to the gymnasium will open at the usual time, 6:30 o'clock, it has been announced.

The Maroons and Hanover are headlocked for second place in the southern division of the South Penn circuit and a defeat will knock either out of their chances to overtake the top ranking Chambersburg high quintet.

Hanover Gains Prestige
New respect for the hitherto little regarded Nighthawk dribblers was gained following last Friday's tilt when Hanover gave Chambersburg their biggest scare, losing out 42-39 in the last minute and a half of play. Tuesday night Hanover continued its fine play by trouncing Shippensburg 37-26.

Most of the Hanover scoring this season has been done by Baublitz, forward, and Hostetter, guard. Halting these sharpshooters will be the main task of the Maroons. Pairing off with Baublitz at forward will be Stauffer. Stonelifer will be at center with Divinye holding down the other guard post.

Reserves To Clash
Gettysburg's lineup will be intact with Rasmussen, Raffensperger, Hess, Gorman and Heintzelman as the starters. Rasmussen's steady improvement has been particularly noticeable in recent games.

The reserve teams will clash in the preliminary at 7 o'clock.

Other South Penn teams will play as follows on Friday: Carson Long at Carlisle; Shippensburg at Chambersburg; Hershey at Hershey Industrial; Mechanicsburg vs. alumni, and Waynesboro at Frederick.

Providence Reds Lose Again To Bisons

(By The Associated Press)
Providence's slump-ridden American hockey league Reds, who have only one victory and a tie to their credit in their last 14 contests, took it on the chin again last night.

The Reds, who are in third place in the circuit's eastern division, dropped their fourth straight contest, 8-1, to the pacesetter eastern division Buffalo Bisons in Buffalo.

In the league's only other contest of the evening, the Cleveland Barons vaulted back into undisputed possession of third place in the western division by tying the Pittsburgh Hornets, 3-3, in Pittsburgh.

Tonight's only contest will take place in Indianapolis where the western division Caps will play host to the Hershey Bears.

Golf Supplies To Be Light This Year

Chicago, Jan. 24 (AP)—The average golfer will have to belt a pellet of synthetic rubber most of 1946 and chances are he will have to shop hard and long to replace that battered "duration" driver.

Representatives of two ranking athletic equipment concerns today sized up the golf supply situation and said those bouncy pre-war balls will not be on the market before August and perhaps not at all this season. The latest synthetic balls, however, will be "almost as good," they amended.

Production of clubs will be fairly brisk by May or June, but keep an eye on the steel strike which may slacken manufacture of club shafts just when producers thought they had the manpower problem licked.

Five More Mines Closed By Strike

Pittsburgh, Jan. 24 (AP)—The Solid Fuels Administration here today reported the closing of five more mines, due indirectly to the steel strike. The mines lacked empty freight cars. The shut-down mines employ 3,807 men.

Closed are: Bethlehem Steel corporation; Mines No. 52, 53 and 58, all in Washington county, involving 2,026 men; H. C. Frick Coal company Kyle mine and Leisenring No. 2 in Fayette county, where 1,581 men are employed.

It is estimated that the U. S. will end the war with between 45 and 50 million deadweight tons of merchant shipping.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON

New York, Jan. 24 (AP)—Wonder if Larry MacPhail, who never has been accused of overlooking publicity values, isn't missing a bet by taking the Yankee "names" to Panama. . . . The guys who write baseball appear quite content to settle down in St. Pete and wait for the stars to return before writing about them. . . . Branch Rickey already has gone south to get his chalk and blackboard ready for the Dodgers' February camp at Sanford, Fla., where would-be managers will get a lot of training along with the ex-GTs. . . . Chick Mehan, who surveyed the field, is willing to bet that the Los Angeles Rams draw more football customers next fall than any other club except the Giants and that they'll do better than New York's first five games.

MESS O' SMITHS
The Portsmouth, N. H., high school basketball team has four players named Smith—Captain Norm, his brother Al, Charlie, a cousin, and Don, no relation to the other three. . . . The coach is Muri Messersmith. . . . The fans down east call 'em "Messersmith's Mess O' Smiths."

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE

Dud De Groot says he won't take any of the Redskin footballers to Los Angeles but the Yankees' Ray Flaherty, who coached them before Dud, hints that he may have a few before next season. . . . That doesn't include Sammy Baugh and Steve Bagarus, who have personal contracts with George (Washington) Marshall. . . . Ohio is going in for night harness racing in a big way next summer with a 12-night meeting opening at Wapakoneta May 30, followed by 18 nights at Marion. . . . Leading South Kingstown, R. I., high into a schoolboy basketball tripleheader at the Boston Garden today is Bruce Blount, who has scored 1,270 points in four seasons. College scouts aren't interested because South Kingstown is virtually the backyard of R. I. State college. . . . All you can say about the recent "election" for the baseball hall of fame is that Cooperstown hasn't a chance.

MID-COURT SHOT GIVES E. B. WIN

A story-book finish gave the East Berlin high school boys' basketball team their sixth successive victory Wednesday evening at Spring Grove 30-29.

East Berlin trailed 29-28 with three seconds of play remaining when Roy Chronister, East Berlin guard, secured possession of the ball in mid-court. Realizing from the electric score-board the game was about to end, Chronister, with his back to his own basket, threw the ball back over his head from midcourt for a perfect shot to give the Adams countians victory just as the game ended.

From start to finish it was anybody's game. East Berlin led 15-12 at half time. Baer and Wolf led the attacks of their respective teams.

The Spring Grove reserves copied the preliminary affair 32-21. Friday evening East Berlin plays at Littlestown.

Pitt Doubles Its Schedule For Vets

Pittsburgh, Jan. 24 (AP)—Anxious that all returning veterans may have a chance for education, the University of Pittsburgh today announced it was doubling its classroom time to take care of them, beginning with the spring semester opening February 11.

A full schedule will operate late afternoons and evenings, giving the same courses as in the day-time.

WOULD CURB RADIO POWER OF PETRILLO

Washington, Jan. 24 (AP)—Legislation which Chairman Lea (D-Calif.) said was designed to restrain powers of James C. Petrillo, head of the American Federation of Musicians, Wednesday was approved by a 14-5 vote of the House Interstate Commerce committee.

Lea is author of the bill which, according to its title, is aimed "To prohibit certain coercive practice affecting radio broadcasting."

Lea told newsmen the bill grew out of demands made by the bill's sponsors for Petrillo. Lea said he considered the demands "not within the legitimate rights of any organization" and added that "a self-respecting government cannot afford to permit" them.

Would Prohibit Threats
The legislation would prohibit the use of threats or force to "coerce, compel or constrain" a radio station "to pay or agree to pay" tribute for the privilege of producing or using records, transcriptions or mechanical, chemical or electrical reproductions. A maximum penalty of a year's imprisonment and a $1,000 fine is provided for violations.

Moreover, it would prohibit use of force or threats to require a broadcaster to employ any person in excess of the number of employees the station wants.

Radio stations also could not be compelled to refrain from broadcast of non-commercial educational or cultural programs in which the participants receive no money except expenses.

SIGNS FOR FIVE YEARS
Philadelphia, Jan. 24 (AP)—Tackle Al Wistert means to stick with the Philadelphia Eagles of the National football league—for five years anyway. Wistert, all league tackle for the past two years, signed a five-year contract yesterday which provided that the giant grid star—he's 6 foot 2 and weighs 215 pounds—shall also act as the Eagles' west coast scout.

Pittsburgh, Jan. 24 (AP)—Twelve railroad cars of surplus army trucks valued at $1,000,000 arrived here yesterday for sale exclusively to Pittsburgh district veterans of World War II. Mayor David L. Lawrence said the city will provide a site from which the 600 trucks can be distributed.

Pitt expects to accommodate 1,000 vets in addition to an expected 1,300 other new students.

STREAMLINING OF CONGRESS IS PROPOSED

By EUGENE B. DODSON

Washington, Jan. 24 (AP)—Congress heard from its own ranks Thursday how it should streamline itself, and the program includes pay raises, pensions and extra assistants.

From a parliamentary viewpoint, one of the key recommendations is that Congress break the tight control which the House Rules Committee now can exercise over pending legislation.

The program for modernizing the nation's top law-making machinery was reported by a Senate-House subcommittee which has been making an extensive study of congressional reorganization.

$5,000 Raise in Pay
Some program points:
1. Give members of Congress a $5,000 raise, increasing their salaries to $15,000 effective the next Congress, and place them under the federal pension system.

2. Allow Congressmen more time for important business by permitting each to hire an $8,000-a-year assistant to handle non-legislative matters.

3. Limit sessions to provide an annual recess from the close of the fiscal year, June 30, until September 10 or October 1.

4. Experiment with night sessions, some of which could be broadcast. Also try a weekly schedule providing three full days for committee hearings and three full days for full-dress chamber sessions.

5. Enact laws for the registration of all lobbying groups and their agents, and compel quarterly reports of their expenditures in seeking to influence legislation.

Reduce Committees
6. Cut the 33 standing committees in the Senate to 16, and trim the 48 in the House to 18, then provide each committee with a staff of four experts to assist it.

7. Discontinue the practice of allowing unconnected legislation to be tacked onto appropriation bills as "riders."

8. Require every committee with pending legislation before it to hold a public hearing once a month in order to keep the measures moving.

9. Delegate to federal courts and the court of claims authority to settle claims against the government which now must be handled by Congress.

Just Folks

By Edgar A. Guest

THE CURE

Yes, I left my home believing
I had reason good for grieving.
Unto all to listen willing
I'd a tale of woe worth spilling.
I'd a right (there's no denying)
To a wholesome spell of crying.
I could prove that joy's a bubble
And this life's a round of trouble.
But before I'd fairly started
Being thoroughly down-hearted
I got busy concentrating
On some tasks I'd long kept waiting;
Wrote some checks my debts to pay up;
Made some calls to fill the day up,
And my own woe? Never doubt it,
I'd forgotten all about it.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS
GREAT LITERATURE LIVES!

In the making of many books, of which there seems to be no end, and of "first sellers" that vie with one another for profits and great sales, there still remain in the world great masterpieces of literature from which even time cannot dim the lustre.

De Quincey once said: "A good steam-engine is properly superseded by a better. But one lovely pastoral valley is not superseded by another, nor a statue of Praxiteles by a statue of Michael Angelo." And so it is that great literature remains undimmed throughout the centuries, never becoming dated. It is from such literature that we gain all the inspiration for what we produce today.

I read somewhere that when a new book was produced an old one should be read! Certainly there is a reason why such books as those of Shakespeare, Milton, Dante, Hugo, and others still live, as alive today as when they were written.

The late Wendell Willkie, shortly before he died, wrote this in an issue of The American Scholar: "When you range back and forth through the centuries, when you weigh the utterance of some great thinker or absorb the meaning of some great composition, in painting or music or poetry; when you live these things within yourself and measure yourself against them—only then do you become an initiate in the world of the free."

There is now a great rage for vitamins that profess to supply what the ordinary food of human beings, so it is said, fails largely to produce. Perhaps it is time now to return, with enthusiasm, to the rare and rich literary vitamins, contained in the great literature of the past! Perhaps that is just what is lacking in our books today. And it may well be said that our best books today show a feeding upon just that.

Great books never die. They give zest to living. They flower the mind. They feed hope within the heart. They create a glow in the world, long after their creator's body has become dust, and his soul immortal!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Strangers To Despair."

$200 Fire Follows Explosion Of Stove

The explosion of a kerosene stove in the second floor apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sherwins Tuesday caused approximately $200 damage to the Elder apartments in Emmitsburg.

Members of the Emmitsburg fire company were called to extinguish the flames which spread when the stove burst apart throwing fire all over the living room of the apartment and blasting a hole in the ceiling of the room.

Fatally Shot As He Helps Butcher

Clarion, Pa., Jan. 24 (AP)—Robert Gurli, 68, of Reidsburg, was killed by the accidental discharge of a small rifle yesterday while preparing to help a neighbor butcher.

The accident occurred on the E. C. Frampton farm. A fellow worker was loading the gun which went off prematurely.

Out Of The Past

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Entertains at Dinner: Members of the choir, ushers and sacristans of St. Francis Xavier church, were guests of the rector, Rev. Father Mark E. Stock, at a dinner at St. Francis Xavier hall, Thursday evening. Those present were:

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Stock, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Swisher, Donald Dillman, Misses Gallagher, Mary Ramer, Carrie Codori, Marie Codori, Bernard Maguire, Catherine Codori, Edith Culp, Rhoda Breighner, Bessie Breighner, Marie King, Mrs. Russell Smiley, Eleanor King, Anna M. Sherry, Johanna King, Corinne King, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Culp, Madeline Culp, Mr. McKendrick, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Rosensteel, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Myers, Clarence Steinour, Abigail Wouters, Regina Knox, Clement Wouters, Leo Dillman, Virginia Ramer, Ruth Hamilton, Virginia Steinberger and Laura Irvin.

County Couple Wed January 6: Miss Lovell E. Herring, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Herring, Orrtanna, and Byron J. Cease, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Cease, Orrtanna, both prominently known in the younger set in Orrtanna, were married at Hagerstown, January 6, at noon, according to an announcement recently made. The Rev. George A. Bennett, pastor of Washington Square Methodist Episcopal church, officiated.

53 Baby Bees Shipped to Show: Fifty-three fat, sleek-looking steers, no longer the "baby bees" they were last May when they arrived in Adams county, to be fed by the Adams County Baby Beef Club, were shipped to Harrisburg on Monday for the tenth annual Pennsylvania State Farm Products Show, which formally opened Tuesday morning.

Guides Enjoy Banquet-Show Tuesday night: What the battlefield guides can and are doing to advertise Gettysburg as a tourist center formed the keynote of addresses by several speakers at a banquet at the Eagle Hotel, Tuesday evening, when the guides were guests of George W. Lynch, proprietor of the hotel, and Mrs. Lynch.

John McDonnell presided as toastmaster. Especially for the occasion, Clarence Swinn, a junior at Gettysburg college, wrote a song "We Are Battlefield Guides" to the tune of "I've Been Working on the Railroad" which the guides enjoyed singing.

Mr. Storrick brought greetings from Colonel E. B. Cope, who was unable to attend the affair. Mr. Lynch, George McClellan, Burgess Heiges and Rufus H. Bushman, president of the guides' association, also spoke.

After the banquet, many of the guides attended the moving picture show at the Lincoln Way theatre.

Noted Speaker Here on Monday: Plans have been completed for the several appearances here on Monday of Dr. W. G. Landes, secretary of the World Sunday School association. Dr. Landes is scheduled to make five addresses here, one at Gettysburg college, one at the seminary and three at St. James Lutheran church.

Aged Cardinal Mercier Passes: By Associated Press Brussels, Jan. 23—Cardinal Mercier Primate of Belgium, and one of the heroic figures of the World War, died today at the age of 74.

Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Brown and family, Cashtown, were guests on Saturday at the home of Professor and Mrs. J. Allen Dickson, Springs avenue.

Plan Three Services For Mission Day

Three services are scheduled for Ellas Evangelical Lutheran church for Sunday in observance of Mission Day in Emmitsburg.

The special services will be held at the Sunday school at 9:30 a. m.; at the church service at 10:30 a. m., and at the Luther League meeting scheduled for 7 p. m.

The Rev. Philip Bower, pastor of the church, has also announced that the collection for European Relief has already reached the $295 mark and is expected to go beyond $300 in the near future.

A recent baptism at the church was that of Lona June Frock, infant daughter of Roland and Hazel Sheely Frock. The child was born June 26.

Emmitsburg FFA Five Beats Thurmont

The Emmitsburg school system FFA basketball team, which comprises most of the men who will also make up the high school squad, started off its season with a victory over Thurmont and is scheduled for fairly smooth sailing according to present prognostications by observers.

Members of the squad include Harry McNair, Carroll Frock, Eugene Brewer, Ralph Fisher, Joe Wivell, Theodore Eckenrode, Harvey Miller, Clarence Wivell, James Sanders, Sterling White, and Donald Weant. Theodore Eckenrode is manager of the squad.

Items Of Interest To Emmitsburg Community

SCHOOL PUPILS LEARN TO RUN OWN AFFAIRS

Emmitsburg's public school system is not only teaching democracy in action—but the practical work is relieving the teacher-short instructional staff of much of the detail work, thus allowing them to spend more time on instruction.

Believing that the youngsters of today, despite all the talk of juvenile delinquency, are better men and women than were their parents at the same age, A. L. Leary, superintendent of the public school, is having the youngsters do much of their own disciplinary work and is permitting them to take part in many school activities such as having full charge of the bell system for classes.

The result, Mr. Leary points out, is much better discipline than when teachers carried the full load of making sure that no one caused any disturbance; and much more interest among the students themselves in their school work.

PHYLLIS RIPKA PLANS TO WED

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Ripka, East Main street, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Phyllis, to Walter Topper, son of Mrs. Stella Topper, Depaul street. No date has been set for the wedding.

Mr. Topper was discharged from the army December 8. Mrs. Harry Scott, near Mt. St. Mary's, was hostess at a bridge party on Friday evening. Guests were Mrs. Walter Opekum, Mrs. John Roddy, Jr., Mrs. Adolph Wasilifsky, Mrs. Dominic Greco, Mrs. John Richards, Mrs. Joseph Ash, Mrs. John Dillon and Miss Ann Eckenrode. Refreshments were served by the hostess and prizes were won by Mrs. Opekum and Mrs. Wasilifsky.

High School Party
A party and dance sponsored by the sophomore class of Emmitsburg high school was held on Friday evening, January 18, in the high school auditorium for the entire high school. About 90 pupils attended, the largest attendance at any class party. Cards, checkers and truth and consequence games were played. Music was furnished for the dance by recordings. Ten new records were purchased by Guy Baker, Jr., with money from class funds. The committee for the affair included Francis Adlesberger, Joan Ripka and Gertrude Withrow.

Sportsmen Meet
The regular meeting of the Emmitsburg Fish and Game Protective association was held recently in the firemen's hall with the president, E. L. Annan, presiding. A report of the game released by the association was read by the secretary, Charles J. Rowe, and other important business transacted.

The State Game warden was asked by the association to appoint Joseph Ash, town magistrate, to sell licenses in the Emmitsburg district. A letter was read from the Inland Fish and Game Commission stating the association will be given 72 rabbits to be released some time in January.

Couple Weds
Floyd A. Confer, of Howard, Pa., and Blanche I. Lomison, of Orrtanna, Pa., were united in marriage recently by Rev. Philip Bower, pastor of Elias Lutheran church, Emmitsburg.

March Of Dimes To Go "Over The Top"

Emmitsburg's public school system is going to go over the top in its March of Dimes collection. Superintendent A. L. Leary predicted today.

The drive is for $38, or a dime from each student. With many classes already reporting collections of more than a dime per student the total has almost been reached with the drive still continuing.

KUGLER APPOINTED

Luther Kugler has been appointed manager and treasurer of the Elias Evangelical Lutheran church cemetery, it has been announced by the pastor, the Rev. Philip Bower. Mr. Kugler succeeds Edwin F. Ohler, who for many years held that post, but has had to retire due to ill health.

'Generous' Donations To Clothing Drive

The Victory clothing collection in Emmitsburg, conducted by at least two of the churches, the Catholic and Lutheran, for the members of their parishes, will continue until the end of the month.

Requests were being made for both summer and winter clothing that can be used for the people in war ravaged countries who at present are almost without all clothes. The summer clothing will go to people in Pacific areas who could not use winter type garments.

So far donations have been "very generous" it was reported.

UNDERGROUND FACILITIES FOR INDUSTRY BEING URGED

Harrisburg, Jan. 24 (AP)—Provision of underground facilities for some of Pennsylvania's essential industries should be considered, D. Edward Steidle of the Pennsylvania State College urged today.

Steidle, dean of the college's school of mineral industries, also suggested other major industries should be decentralized.

He brought up the proposals in an article in the December issue of the department of internal affairs' monthly bulletin, warning of an "imminent crisis" which he said confronts the Keystone state's mineral industries.

Need Immediate Action

"The unplanned exploitation of Pennsylvania's rich heritage of mineral fuels, and metallic and non-metallic ores has brought us to the position where immediate and resolute action is essential if we are to avoid economic disaster," Steidle wrote.

In view of Pennsylvania's heavy dependence on its mineral resources, a decline in mineral industries "is bound to bring about a ruinous decay in the economic health of the commonwealth," he stated. This situation is developing gradually, but we can be as tragic as if precipitated overnight.

Remedies are available through intensive education and research, Steidle asserted. In this field, "nothing short of mutual give and take among state government, industry, and education can bring forth a solution," he emphasized.

Need New Industries

Steidle suggested these specific steps in addition to the decentralization of essential industries and placing some underground:

"We must find new industries to replace failing old ones.

"We must never allow another automobile industry to slip through our fingers for the want of far-sighted policies.

"We must understand the implications of the proposed St. Lawrence seaway hydro-electric power project.

"We must recirculate our metals wherever possible, again and again.

"We should seek the aid of the federal government in stockpiling every possible strategic and critical mineral required by our industries to insure us against need in case of another war."

MAN KILLED IN $1.90 HOLDUP

Cornwall, Pa., Jan. 24 (AP)—An unidentified youth wearing a soldier's uniform shot and killed a gasoline station attendant at nearby Fontana last night in a holdup netting him $1.90 in gasoline.

State Police Sgt. H. B. Habig of the Lebanon barracks said a four-state search was intensified today for the assailant described as about 19 years old, five feet five inches tall and driving a Ford coupe stolen from a Lebanon auto dealer.

The youth, Habig said, shot James Strickler, 51, in the abdomen just after filling the tank with gasoline. Strickler's wife heard the muffled shot while inside the station, Habig added, but the slayer got away before she could sound an alarm.

Habig reported no money was stolen, but expressed the opinion that Strickler was shot when he resisted a holdup.

The victim was shot with a pistol or revolver. He apparently was putting oil in the car at the time of the shooting, Habig said. His lifeless hand clutched a partly filled oil can.

List 40 Finalists In "Talent Search"

Washington, Jan. 24 (AP)—Forty finalists in the fifth annual "science talent search" conducted among high school students throughout the nation by the science clubs of America and the Westinghouse educational foundation were announced today.

The girls and boys will be given all-expense trips to Washington in March when they will compete in a final test for the awarding of $11,000 in scholarships.

Four-year scholarships of $2,400 each will be awarded to the top boy and girl, and eight four-year scholarships of $400 also will be given. The remaining $3,000 will be distributed in additional scholarships at the discretion of the judges, said Watson Davis, director of the Science Clubs of America.

The forty finalists include:

Pennsylvania—E. Marilyn Rohrer, Elizabethtown; Elizabeth Laurer, Philadelphia, and Donald Shomberg, Pittsburgh.

The first customs house returns to the U. S. Treasury came from Palmyra, Tenn., situated on the Cumberland river.

WESTINGHOUSE PICKETS COSTLY

Pittsburgh, Jan. 24 (AP)—An Allegheny county common pleas court, taking testimony in an injunction suit seeking to limit picketing at strikebound Westinghouse Electric corporation plants, heard T. I. Phillips, vice president of the company, declare picketing was endangering nearly $100,000,000 worth of contracts.

The second day of the hearing got under way today. The picketing started January 15 when Westinghouse CIO-Electrical Workers walked out to enforce their demands for a $2-a-day wage increase.

Phillips testified yesterday pickets prevented engineers from entering the plant, thus holding up work on the contracts. He listed these projects as included in the $100,000,000 worth:

Electrification systems for the Pennsylvania railroad and for the New York Central from New York to Albany and Buffalo; locomotives and power plants for Russia; turbo-electric locomotives for the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad; electric work for a New York subway, and for Carnegie-Illinois, Weirton, Bethlehem and Great Lakes steel companies.

Phillips said Westinghouse also is studying streetcar systems in several cities with a view to installing bus systems and is negotiating with the British government for work in Australia and New Zealand.

Involuntarily Idle Workmen To Be Paid

Pittsburgh, Jan. 24 (AP)—Any Allegheny Ludlum Steel corporation employees involuntarily made idle by a strike of the CIO-United Steelworkers will continue to be paid "as long as feasible" the firm announced today.

Allegheny Ludlum employs some 11,000 persons. Its pay decision affects office workers and supervisory personnel not eligible for union membership.

Hiland G. Batcheller, president, said:

"The company feels that these employees are idle through no fault of their own. Therefore we will continue to pay them at the regular rate until circumstances dictate a change in policy."

STRIKE LOOMS IN PHILADELPHIA

Philadelphia, Jan. 24 (AP)—The possibility of a crippling transportation strike—starting February 11—faced Philadelphia today.

The 9,655 maintenance and operating employees of the Philadelphia Transportation company will participate in a strike vote next Tuesday evening and Wednesday morning, officials of Local 234, Transport Workers Union (CIO), reported.

Union President Joseph B. Dougherty said if a strike is approved, the walkout—halting virtually all trolley, bus and subway service in the city—will begin at one minute past midnight, February 11. The union's contract with the PTC expires on that day.

The union's executive committee ordered the strike vote late yesterday because negotiations for a new agreement with the company had been "broken off" January 9, Dougherty said, and management "refused to make any overtures whatever."

The union is seeking a $2-a-day wage boost, a "decent pension plan, union shop and safe and sane operating schedules," Dougherty asserted. Company spokesmen had no immediate comment.

Congress Drive Underway To Put 'Heat' On Management In Strike Epidemic

DRIVE SPARKED BY FOES OF HARD STRIKE CONTROL

By CLAIR JOHNSON

Washington, Jan. 24 (AP)—Congressional efforts to put the heat on management, instead of workers, in the current strike epidemic began to take shape today.

The drive is being sparked by foes of proposals for stern regulation of industrial strife, and some of these lawmakers claim the White House is not adverse to at least one turn in the griddle for struck employers. This new tack developed as several Senators and Representatives advocated speedy abolition or modification of present laws giving tax rebates to corporations whose 1946 profits drop below pre-war levels.

Many Speeches Planned

Sponsors of this plan, including one Congressman with reported White House backing, disclosed a program for frequent floor speeches defending labor and criticizing employers for their position in present strikes.

Presidential support was claimed for a House address in which Rep. Biemiller (D., Wis.) asserted earlier in the week that the U. S. Steel company would have "made money" if it had accepted the wage compromise advanced by President Truman.

Biemiller said the company would have added $200,000,000 yearly to its income through a $4 a ton price boost, while paying out $180,000,000 in wage increases at the suggested 18.5 cents an hour gain. This $4 price boost reportedly would have been sanctioned by the administration.

Hope To Block Bills

Several of Biemiller's colleagues told a reporter his figures "came from the White House." Biemiller would say only that "they represent a compilation by OPA and the Labor Department" and that "I was asked to make them public so people would know the situation."

Biemiller, along with other close friends of organized labor such as Reps. Hook (D., Mich.), Savage (D., Wash.), Bradley (D., Pa.), LaFollette (R., Ind.) and Marcantonio (Alp., N. Y.), plan to launch a series of similar speeches in the House. Senators Morse (R., Ore.), Kilgore (D., W. Va.) and Murray (D., Mont.), are expected to carry on along the same line in their chamber.

These members hope not only to gain supporters, but also to stave off quick passage of several pending labor bills which they consider too restrictive.

Convict Is Denied Habeas Corpus Writ

Pittsburgh, Jan. 24 (AP)—Federal Judge R. M. Gibson denied a plea for a writ of habeas corpus and yesterday ordered Charles W. Thomas, a convict, remanded to Western penitentiary.

Thomas made a personal plea in court, arguing he had been turned over to the Pennsylvania penal authorities without proper procedure. He was returned to Western penitentiary last July after serving a sentence in Canada. Paroled in Indiana, he was immediately brought to Pennsylvania.

Thomas has served eight years in penal institutions, including one term on an assault and battery charge filed at Somerset.

Poultry Goals In Penna. Reduced For Coming Year

Harrisburg, Jan. 24 (AP)—Pennsylvania farmers could look forward today to drastically reduced poultry goals in 1946.

Clyde A. Zehner, chairman of the state Agricultural Adjustment Agency, said the new chicken quota for 1946 was set at 30,849,000, a 24 per cent cut from the 1945 production figure of 40,853,000. Turkey goals were set at 1,386,000, compared with 1,670,000 last year.

The sharpest increase sought for 1946 was in soybeans, the new figure calling for 30,000 acres as compared to 20,000 last year.

Other goals approved for 1946 by the production and marketing administration of the U. S. Department of Agriculture were:

	1946	1945
Milk production (lbs.)	5,069,000,000	5,261,000,000

STRIP MINING CASE NEAR END

Harrisburg, Jan. 24 (AP)—The commonwealth expected to complete its defense of the state's new law regulating strip mining of bituminous coal in Dauphin county court today.

Harry F. Stambaugh, deputy attorney general, said the state plans to call witnesses from the state Department of Forests and Waters and the state Game Commission in connection with reforestation provisions of the new law.

Enacted by the 1945 Legislature, the law requires operators to cover the face of exposed coal with non-combustible material, smooth off peaks of refuse piles and replant such banks at the direction of the secretary of forests and waters.

Constitutionality of the statute is under attack by more than 60 coal operators of central Pennsylvania on the grounds it is class legislation and its provisions are unreasonable.

Called to the stand yesterday, Mines Secretary Richard Maize told Judge Karl Richards "there is danger of exposed coal catching on fire and jeopardizing the lives of men in deep mines."

He said strip operations that cut into deep mine workings also can interrupt ventilation systems, permit water to flow into mines and liberate into surface streams water impounded in abandoned underground workings.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH

Annuville, Pa., Jan. 24 (AP)—Nicholas Mawryluk, of Lebanon R. D. 4, was killed with his own rifle last night when it discharged while he was crawling over a fence on a farm about four miles north of here, State Policeman William Wert reported.

The Coast Guard is the oldest fighting service afloat.

Man Crippled In Rescue Gets Medal

Pittsburgh, Jan. 24 (AP)—Fred N. Stover, 48, of Hollywood, Calif., who was crippled trying to save a Pennsylvania man from burning to death, has been awarded a bronze medal and $75 a month disability pension by the Carnegie Hero Fund commission.

The award was announced last night, the commission simultaneously giving eight other bronze medals for heroism, as well as pensions or lump sums of money in most cases. Five of the heroes lost their lives.

Stover was working on an oil derrick at Old Concord, Pa., when an explosion occurred at a nearby well, showering Herman H. Hill, 65, with burning oil.

Stover dashed through a 10-foot area flaming oil and ripped Hill's blazing clothes from his body. The rescuer's hands were so badly burned as to leave him a cripple. Hill did not recover from his injuries.

NYLONS TO THE BRAVE

U. S. milk production in 1944 was up 14 per cent over the 1935-39 average.

TO BE NO RISE IN MEAT PRICES AFTER SEIZURE

Washington, Jan. 24 (AP)—The government promised the nation's housewives today that federal seizure of meat-packing plants will not boost ceiling prices for steaks and chops.

Secretary of Agriculture Anderson said all meat products will continue to be sold under present OPA retail ceilings after his department takes over operation of the struck meat plants Saturday.

President Truman's decision to seize the meat plants where 263,000 CIO and AFL workers have been made idle by a wage dispute stirred much speculation whether the administration might resort to similar action in other current major strikes. The White House had nothing to say on that topic.

The $64 Question
Otherwise the country's critical labor picture showed few important changes. However, effort to resolve the wage dispute of 650,000 shipyard workers by means of a compromise proposal were being studied, with the possibility of a decision during the day.

The most important question for the women who do the country's marketing and cook its meals still was whether federal operation of struck meat plants would restore a normal flow of meat to their neighborhood butcher shops.

No one yet knew the $64 answer to that one.

The reason was that approxi-

New Oxford

New Oxford—Lloyd Eckert, near here, has been discharged from the Hanover hospital where he was treated for a badly injured hand sustained in an accident.

Lt. William G. Weaver, who volunteered for army service in June, 1941, has been discharged. He is the last of the three service sons of Mrs. James R. Weaver to return to civilian life, his brothers, Frederic, USA, and George, of the Coast Guard.

Approximately two-thirds of the striking meatmen—some 193,000 CIO unionists—will be held any pledge to the government that they would return to work once the plants are in federal hands. AFL strikers, numbering 70,000, have promised to be back on their jobs Saturday as "loyal Americans."

Some CIO men were against resuming work unless their wage demands were met or unless their national leaders ordered them back. One of the latter said "present policy" dictated continuance of the strike, regardless of federal seizure.

The men charged with taking over the meat plants under these conditions is Gayle G. Armstrong, New Mexico rancher and a close personal friend of the secretary of agriculture.

Named by Anderson yesterday, Armstrong is assistant administrator of agriculture's production and marketing administration, and vice president of the commodity credit corporation.

Anderson told reporters his department will operate seized plants through the presidents or board chairman of the affected packing concerns. Armstrong was due on the scene in advance to arrange details.

having been previously discharged. A sister, Miss M. Agnes Weaver, remains in service as a cadet nurse in Baltimore. Their brother-in-law, George C. DeVine, was discharged during the month from the navy.

Mrs. David Blosser has returned from Brentwood, Md., where she had been a guest of her daughter, Mrs. David Kammerer, and family.

Mrs. Elizabeth Weaver Moore and two children recently entertained her husband, Bernard Moore, who had a short navy leave.

Mrs. Earl Strasbaugh, York, formerly of here, was a recent visitor with local relatives.

Mrs. L. D. Benedick has been quite ill at her home during the past week.

Joseph Martin, who had been seriously ill at the Hanover hospital for several weeks, has returned to his home near town.

TIRES ARE RATION-FREE!

No more certificates! Once again every one is eligible to buy, and soon you'll be able to drive in and get immediate delivery on new tires for your car.

PRODUCTION OUTLOOK AT A GLANCE

Tire manufacturers have been unable to fill the great need for new passenger car tires. In case we do not have the right size tire for your car, we should be able to get it soon. Come in for full information.

HERE'S WHY you'll want the B. F. Goodrich Silvertown OUTWEARS PREWAR TIRES!

It has been proved. More than 2,000 tests and nearly 17,000,000 miles of the toughest kind of road service showed that this new B. F. Goodrich Silvertown will Outwear Prewar natural rubber tires.

New, better rubber. B. F. Goodrich has developed a rubber that's far better than ordinary synthetics. It helps the new Silvertown wear better and run cooler. It has greater resistance to cracking—and actually stands bruising and damage from accidents better.

Tire body 35% stronger. An entirely new, stronger cord is used, more of these cords are used in the top ply, an extra shock-absorbing breaker strip is included. The result: a body that is 35% stronger for additional resistance to bruises, extra blowout protection.

Flatter tread covers more ground. Called the "road level" tread, it puts more rubber on the road, permits all the tread to share the wear. Result: a further increase in mileage, less scuffing, better distribution of weight, better traction, more safety on the turns.

Plus 3 years' EXTRA experience. Three years before any other manufacturer, B. F. Goodrich sold tires containing synthetic rubber to American car owners. The extra know-how piled up in these years is reflected in the new B. F. Goodrich Silvertown.

OPENING OF NEW DANCE HALL BIG EVENT IN TOKYO

By HAL BOYLE

Tokyo (AP)—When the Japanese pen a new dance hall it's strictly ke launching a battleship. They o everything but crack a bottle of champagne over the prow of one of their "two-ten-a-dance" girls.

The latest venture in the Nipponese campaign to get the American older to pay Japan's war debt is a colossal dance hall in the basement of a bombed-out department store on the famous Ginza.

This oasis on the Ginza is the Willow Run" of the world's dance halls—with 2,000 Japanese girl dancers ready to jitterbug or fox-trot with any American G. I.—and it is aimed specifically at pulling yen out of G. I. pockets.

It promises to be one of the most popular entertainment spots in the Japanese capital for occupation troops. Japanese-conceived and Japanese-financed, it originated with a group of businessmen who formed a "recreation and amusement association" to develop the project.

They sank more than $100,000 in remodeling the huge, concrete-walled department store basement. The 2,000 dancing partners have been given English lessons and taught at least the rudiments of American style dancing.

Because of the possibility of disturbances, no Japanese men patrons will be allowed. It will be solely a dance hall for the Yank soldier. For two yen—about 14 cents—he can have a three-minute dance with any girl of his choosing, and a big bar will serve him a large mug of Japanese beer for six yen—about 40 cents. There will be no hard liquor.

Major-domo for the financial interests involved is spy, elderly little M. Kaneschiko—generally known as "Little Tokyo," who in his gray, race-track-checked suit looks like a character from a Damon Runyon story. He pops about like a Jack-in-the-box that had escaped from its container.

Promote Relations
"Little Tokyo" was master of ceremonies at the opening ceremony during which Japanese financial backers gave a long verbal song and dance on how they hoped their "two-ten-a-dance" cabaret would promote Japanese-American relations.

The girls made a big hit with American soldiers at the formal opening. They moved smoothly over the new board floor under colorful Japanese lanterns.

"It's the first real first class thing we've seen out here in the Pacific," said Sgt. Arnold Ruter, Kenosha, Wis. "I didn't think these girls could

Chapter 1

"No," said Rush Henry. "No, Mr. Germaine. This isn't the kind of work I do."

Paul Joseph St. John Germaine frowned. "It is my understanding that you will take any case, if it interests you and the money offered is sufficient. I'll stand a certain amount of holding up in this case."

Rush smiled but the smile didn't reach his eyes. "Perhaps the mistake is on my part. It didn't seem logical that you would pay my price for an elementary job of shadowing. So, as you say, I'll hold you up."

"Agreed. Name your price."

"My usual rates are fifty dollars a day and expenses. It'll cost you double."

"When can you start?"

"Just as soon as you tell me why you are so anxious to have your daughter followed."

"Let me give you a little background, Henry. I presume that you will keep whatever I have to say, in the utmost confidence."

An angry light lit Rush's eyes. "You wouldn't have called me here today if you didn't already know the answer to that question."

"No offense, Henry. Mr. Daley of the Express gave you the highest recommendation." He paused for a moment searching for words.

"Until a month ago," Germaine said, "I thought that Leslie was growing up as any normal girl should, in her position, when I received a tremendous shock that brought me up short." He reached into the desk drawer behind him and brought out a sheet of heavy notepaper folded twice. He tossed it across to Rush. "This, I think, will explain."

Rush unfolded the paper and read: Germaine:

Get your daughter out of my hair. She has been hanging around here for six months getting in my customers' way. She hints that she might like to work for them once in a while. The little devil scares me. Call her off.

Markio

Rush looked at the note and there was a question in his eyes.

"I have known Markio for a great many years. I have occasionally had business with some of his customers."

"This does make it a little different," Rush said. "What, exactly, do you want me to do?"

"I want you to find out where she goes and whom she sees. When you do our dances but they're good—really good. They're light on their feet."

"It's the best thing the Japanese have done since disarming," said T. S. James Hopkins, Bremerton, Wash.

learn everything, I want you to buy or frighten every wretched one of them into having absolutely nothing to do with Leslie."

"That," Rush said, "is a large order. How do you expect to handle Leslie when I have done my end of the job?"

"I think that an iron hand minus the velvet glove will handle the situation, once you get your end taken care of."

Rush didn't think so. He thought a psychoanalysis was indicated, but he was being paid for something else so he kept still.

"Is there something else you'd like to know before you begin?"

"No," said Rush, "but, I'd like to search her room for anything I can find that will give me something to go on."

"I'll take you there now."

They climbed a winding staircase to a long hall. Leslie's door stood slightly ajar and Germaine threw it open.

"There, I'd rather not come in, if you don't mind."

"Okay," said Rush. "I'll come by your study on my way out."

"I'll have a check for you."

At first glance it was an ordinary room, such as any girl of eighteen might have. Then the room changed. A faint sensuous perfume rose to his nostrils. He took a step to a bookcase beside the bed and read the titles, Krafft-Ebing, Freud, and a well worn poorly printed Studies in Criminal Psychology. Now where had an eighteen-year-old girl gotten that collection of books, and why? He went to the chest and pulled out drawers. Lingerie, blouses, hosiery, jewelry, nothing else. The desk gave him nothing but a sheaf of photographs. He noted a surprisingly voluptuous figure for her age and a slightly vicious look about the face. She didn't look like a happy person. Rush went on to the bathroom adjoining. Behind the usual beauty aids in the cabinet set in one wall he found a bright metal and glass hypodermic needle. He hesitated for a moment, then put it back.

Germaine was waiting for him in the study, check in hand.

"Will that be enough for a retainer?"

Rush looked no further than the three zeroes with the "one" before them in the corner of the slip of paper.

"That will carry me for a while," he said. "I'll have an itemized account at the end."

"I've been thinking of the end, Henry. As an added incentive to reaching that end, I'll give you a thousand dollars for every day under ten that you take for the completion of the assignment."

"Fair enough," Rush said, and turned to go.

"One more thing, Henry," Rush turned back. "Expense has no bearing on your conduct of this case. I have a great deal of money and I'll

ITALIAN ALIEN VETERAN SEEKS CITIZENSHIP

Philadelphia, Jan. 24 (AP)—Fifteen-year-old Gustavo Ferretti is just an Italian alien who entered the United States illegally aboard a troopship—and it makes no difference to immigration authorities that the youngster fought in four major battles with the 5th army.

He may be deported even though he likes America.

"I'd like to finish high school," he says. "Then I'd like to go to college. And I want to become an American. The guys I fought with were the finest men in the world and I'd like to be one of them."

Gustavo is an unofficial GI. He was 13 when he "joined" the Yanks at Cassino, but though he was issued an American uniform he never drew a cent of pay in 21 months of fighting.

When he was wounded at Cassino his company commander gave him the Purple Heart—without the certificate, however, that made it official.

Gustavo arrived in the U. S. last August 31 at Newport News, Va., with the 361st Infantry, the outfit he served as medical corps litter bearer—but Gustavo was ordered deported to Italy.

Then the lad went AWOL. He came to Philadelphia to visit his aunt. A new appeal was made to upset the deportation order and Gustavo was placed in custody of his relatives here pending further investigation of the case.

About 125,000 farms were connected in line with the rural electrification program in 1944.

Total U. S. copper supply for 1944 was about 1.8 million tons, slightly under the 1943 level.

Hollywood

By Bob Thomas

Hollywood, Jan. 24 (AP)—Bebe Daniels is back making comedies for Hal Roach, but under slightly different circumstances.

More years ago than I cared to ask her, Bebe starred in comedies for Hal. They took a week to make. "We would all get in cars and drive to the hills or the beach," she related. "Then we would put our heads together and figure out a plot. If it was sunny we'd shoot it. If it rained, we would go indoors and play cards."

Bebe is again on the Roach lot and this time she is producing comedies. She told me screen comedy has changed quite a bit during her absence.

"Before, the emphasis was on action," she said, "but now we have to concentrate on the story. The public demands a good story and much more subtle comedy situations. That doesn't mean we aren't going to have a few pratfalls, though."

The actress is well suited for her new capacity. She knows all branches of the business, including cutting and writing. She wrote all her radio scripts in England and also some of her pictures when she was a star at Paramount. Under her Roach contract she also will direct pictures. With megaphone by Adrian, no doubt.

Nudged on by the publicity department, the photographer enlisted Rita Hayworth, Evelyn Keyes, Jim Falsenburg and other well-pinned subjects to cable French couturiers in protest.

"We have the most beautiful collection of legs in the world here, and covering them at this strategic moment would be—." He stopped, speechless. I thought he was going to say covering them would be a disaster. Maybe he was. Disaster for whom? Hmmm.

WOMAN KNEW OF DEATH PLOT

Tunkhannock, Pa., Jan. 24—Auburn-haired Florence Mae Randall admitted in a signed statement that she knew lumberjack Kenneth Ferrell planned to kill her husband "because of misuse of me."

The statement was read into the record yesterday at the trial of the 35-year-old mother of two children. She is charged with being an accessory after the fact in the slaying of her husband, Charles, a boat concessionaire, last Memorial Day.

Ferrell, 31, under life sentence for the crime, refused to testify against the red-headed defendant. Judge E. W. Farr fined him $100 for contempt when he would only repeat—"I have nothing to say"—when questioned by the prosecution on the witness stand.

Judge Farr denied District Attorney W. Trembath's motion for a mistrial, but granted the state an exception.

Trembath said Mrs. Randall had made the statement he read to the jury during investigation of her husband's murder.

"I was suspicious of my husband and he ran around with other women since we were married," Trembath quoted the defendant. "He led me a confused life."

An Inspiring Example of Achievement Despite Handicap

MARCH OF DIMES
JANUARY 16-31

Because Franklin Roosevelt himself had long suffered from infantile paralysis, he was zealously devoted to extending research toward completely conquering the disease . . . and to the Warm Springs Foundation whose facilities can aid those already stricken. The man who became president in the face of so great a handicap appreciated all the more the value of completely restored health, and the need for an institution which would make necessary therapy available to all. Until infantile paralysis smites someone dear to you, you cannot realize how tragic it is. May you never know! But to help those whom it has already claimed, give generously . . . TELLS FARMERS AMERICA'S REAL WEALTH IS GONE

Harrisburg, Jan. 24 (AP)—Farmer-author Louis Bromfield, deprecating that "America's real wealth is gone," says Lend-Lease was the biggest, most generous and disastrous contribution ever made by any nation to war in the history of the world.

"We shall be paying for it generations hence," he told the Pennsylvania Aberdeen-Angus Breeders' association's banquet, a feature of the three-day state farm show here. Debts of money can be paid off "easily enough under inflation," he said, "but nothing can restore to this nation the real wealth which gives value to that money"—ore, oil, forests and labor of man.

Destroying Wealth
Bromfield declared that when America's "real wealth is gone we shall become a third- or fourth-rate nation," and emphasized that "we have been destroying our real wealth as rapidly as possible," to the point where many of our natural resources "are exhausted or on the rapid way to exhaustion."

"American agriculture is sick—and the sickness pervades the whole of our economy," the author said. "Its condition is growing worse, not better."

Calling for "50-cents-a-bushel corn at a good profit rather than $1-a-bushel corn produced at a loss and subsidized by taxpayers' money," Bromfield suggested the nation's economy must be based on agriculture and the cost of food, "which is the basic item in the cost of living."

Farmer's Lessons
R. B. Corbett, secretary-treasurer of the American Farm Bureau federation, told a meeting of the Pennsylvania Dairymen's association that "strikes are seriously injuring the farmer."

"Working close to nature, the farmer has learned some things that are being completely ignored in this industrial strife," he said in listing some of them as "hard work, production, incentives and rewards."

Corbett said his federation proposed "that a formula be found which will give dairy products a price comparable with the parity prices and basic commodities," and added:

"Fair balance must be maintained between farm prices, industrial prices and industrial wages."

Flashes Of Life

OBLIGING

Portland, Ore., (AP)—Rent Director E. B. McCutchan handed a tenant a check for $490 a landlord had overcharged her. She blinked in surprise for a moment—then asked one question. Did the check include a $1 deposit on a key? It was McCutchan's turn. He blinked; said he would work on that, too.

ANTI-CLIMAX

Pasadena, Calif., (AP)—John E. Moore, 60, drove his car into the path of the Santa Fe Chief streamliner. His car was carried more than a block by the locomotive's cow-catcher. Moore stepped out nervous but uninjured. Police gave him a traffic ticket. They said Moore had failed to observe a crossing wigwag signal.

PHILLY HOST TO STAR TRACKMEN

Philadelphia, Jan. 24 (AP)—Forest E. Faw, champion long-distance runner and former Oklahoma A. and M. star, today hoped Lady Luck would stick by him after drawing the pole positions in both the one and two-mile events for tomorrow's second annual Inquirer Invitation indoor track meet.

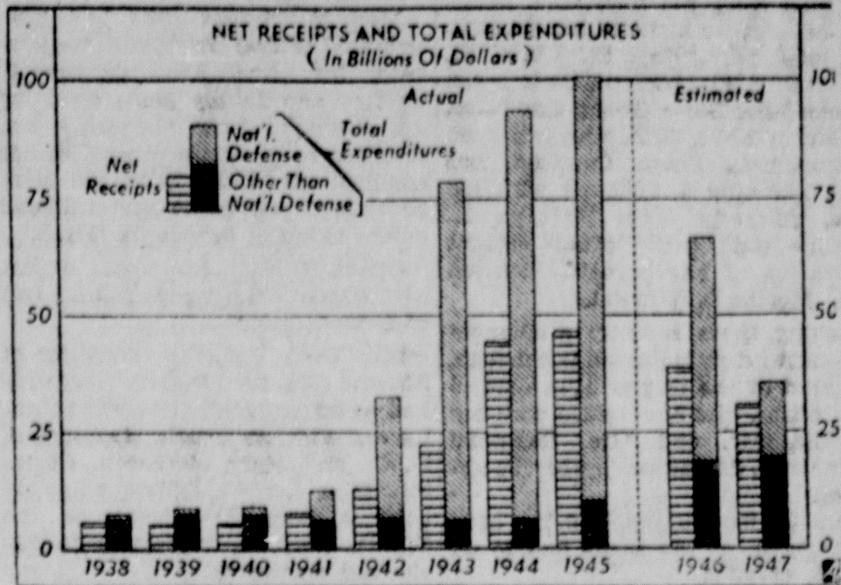

Form favored Leslie MacMitchell, New York, to win the mile, while Norman Bright, Dayton, Ohio—ex-Stanford flash—was the choice in the longer distance.

Meantime, a host of the nation's top track stars arrived in town and began limbering up on the banked boards of the Convention hall oval.

E. Faw, 1941-44 national outdoor steeplechase and 1945 indoor three-mile champ, faces top-notch competition in the mile event. Besides MacMitchell, 1941 titleholder who is making his first start at the distance in nearly four years, the Oklahoma runner will be pitted against New York university's Rudy Simms, the speedy negro who holds the I.C. 4-A crown; Howard Borek, Manhattan college star in 1938, and Wisconsin's Walter Mehl.

In the two-mile, Faw races Simms—also aiming for a double victory—Dartmouth's John Hanley; Walter Soltow of the New York Pioneer club, winner of the Metropolitan A.A.U. three-mile run, and 12 others.

U. S. Receipts And Spending

This chart indicates the government's actual net receipts and total expenditures from 1938 through 1945, and estimated receipts and expenditures for 1946 and 1947, as outlined in President Truman's message to Congress.

Phoenix Favorite To Appear Today

Phoenix, Ariz., Jan. 24 (AP)—The tough job of selecting a favorite for the $10,000 Phoenix open golf tournament should be settled today with more than 200 professionals and amateurs completing their rounds in the preliminary pro-amateur tourney.

It may be because Byron Nelson, was called away to attend to his Toledo, O., umbrella business but the dopesters have been in a dither.

As the touring pros tried out the Phoenix country club course where the tournament starts tomorrow, each day has seen at least one new favorite.

GEO. F. GUTMANN TELLS OF DUTIES WITH RED CROSS

Much of the work of the Red Cross official overseas, particularly in replacement depots, consists in securing reports on family health and welfare for the recently arrived soldiers and in "helping them adjust themselves to a new and strange land." George O. Gutmann, 108 Springs avenue, former Gettysburg college faculty member, recently arrived home from 18 months' service as a Red Cross field director in India, said today.

The men, arriving from a 40- or 50-day sea trip were eager to learn of the arrival of expected heirs or of the welfare of those at home who may have been ill at the time of their departure from the United States. The queries made by the men were sent by cable to the U. S. where local chapters conducted investigations and report. Most replies were received within a week or eight days "and we had the pleasure of reporting that it's a boy or the sorrow of consoling a man whose mother or father may have died during the soldier's long trip over."

Most satisfactory job of the Red Cross officials was arrangement for meetings between brothers, fathers and sons and friends in the India theater.

Some Minor Disasters
"Sometimes those meetings took place in my office. On many occasions it was a meeting of a father, who had been in India for some time, and his son, just turned 18, who was arriving as a replacement. It was the most satisfactory thing a field director could do. Often there were as high as 100 meetings arranged between relatives or friends per month."

Sometimes there were minor disasters that took minor miracles to overcome. Shortly after Mr. Gutmann arrived in India, on December 21, 1944, the Red Cross completed arrangements for opening a new club room. The room was decorated for a pre-Christmas dance to be held the night of the 21st. At 5 o'clock in the morning a fire alarm called them out. Their new club room was in flames and was utterly destroyed. Despite that the Red Cross secured another building, decorated it, and the pre-Christmas dance went on that night as scheduled.

The overseas work of the Red Cross was divided into three phases, Mr. Gutmann points out. There was the camp service of the field director which took care of arranging for emergency furloughs home for men in case of great difficulties at their homes, arranged for meetings between friends in the armed forces, handled health and welfare reports for the man from their families and otherwise assisted in providing the soldiers with what information and help they might need along those lines. The club service of the Red Cross provided large clubs in various cities and camps where the men might have recreational facilities. Clubmobiles went to remote installations carrying coffee, donuts, sandwiches, a radio or Victrola, pocket editions of books, newspapers and magazines. The third division of the Red Cross service was hospitals with women workers serving as hostesses, planning entertainment programs for the men who were able to take part or be spectators, providing movies and crafts in the Red Cross rooms in the hospitals.

At All-India Conference
Most outstanding thing to Mr. Gutmann in his overseas service was the meeting of the All-India conference at which he met numerous prominent national Indian figures and had a first class opportunity to study the workings of the congress. Through some friends of his in India he was admitted to the congress on a special pass as a "technical advisor to the sound camera-man," with the result that he could move about at will throughout the entire congress area.

The most brilliant speech he ever heard says Mr. Gutmann was the closing address of the congress given by the president, Abul Kalam Azad, in which Azad urged the members of congress and the people of India to keep fighting for liberty. Later at the home of the Indian friend who arranged for Gutmann to attend the session, the local man met Azad. He had previously met Mahatma Ghandi

Couple Is Facing 24 Morals Charges

Norristown, Pa., Jan. 24 (AP) — George W. Balles, Jr., 33, and his 35-year-old wife, Laura, are scheduled for trial on 24 morals charges the week of Feb. 4, District Attorney Fred B. Smilie announced.

Balles was founder and headmaster of Warminster academy, a co-educational military school at nearby Three Trees which has been closed.

The couple, parents of a five-year-old girl, were indicted by a grand jury on charges which include contributing to the delinquency of minors, open lewdness, assault and battery and corrupting public morals.

All the charges, Smilie said, involved pupils at Balles' school.

CATS BEFORE LADIES
Philadelphia, Jan. 24 (AP) — With her house on fire, Mrs. Catherine Brown, 71, a widow, refused to leave until her 10 cats and two dogs were removed to safety. Mrs. Brown then permitted herself to be carried out.

To Report Saturday
Mr. Gutmann, who served in Bombay, Calcutta and other sections of India, will report back to the National Red Cross offices in Washington Saturday after his leave.

But a Red Cross field director never knows just what kind of work he is going to do. Mr. Gutmann points out. One Christmas when chaplains were not available at the post where he was stationed, the colonel decided there should be religious services. And who could do the job better than a Red Cross field director in the absence of a real chaplain, said the colonel. So Mr. Gutmann conducted services, on an altar made of a table and with candles made in the shape of huge cobras supplied by the colonel upon request for candleabra. "We fixed the cobras though by piling flowers around them. Otherwise the men would have probably been distracted in their prayers by viewing huge Indian cobras, which wound around the candlesticks, staring down with evil countenances upon them."
